

TRIAD ORCHID SOCIETY NEWSLETTER

August 2007 edition

Preview August 2007 TOS Meeting,

Our Speaker for August is Ernie Gemeinhart of Enlightened Orchids. Enlightened Orchids specializes in growing orchids, many miniature, that are suitable for growing under lights and he will be speaking to us about Cochlopetalum paphs. As he explains...."The group Cochlopetalum* group of *Paphiopedilum orchids has long been overshadowed by the colorful *Parvisepalum*s and majestic Coryopetalum multiflorals; however, we feel these slippers are delightful and very important in modern breeding. The species of successively-blooming Paphiopedilum will be discussed in detail, highlighting how to distinguish between the species as well as the good and bad traits of each species. A broad sampling of hybrids will be shown to give a perspective of the influence these species have in hybridization."

A Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania native, Ernie has dual Bachelor of Science degrees in Marine Biology and Aquaculture from the Florida Institute of Technology, Melbourne, FL. He spent three years of graduate study at the George Washington University and National Museum of Natural History in Washington, DC investigating the physiology, evolutionary biology, and taxonomy of freshwater, South American catfishes in the genus Corydoras. Preview August Speaker Ernie Gemeinhart of Enlightened orchids, continued.

Currently, Ernie is the laboratory manager and technician in the Biomedical Polymer Sciences Laboratory at the University of Illinois at Chicago, Department of Biopharmaceutical Sciences where he is performing research using polymers for targeted controlled release cancer treatments and directed cell growth for tissue regeneration. Ernie is a probationary, certified AOS judge at the Chicago judging center in his fourth year of training. He has been growing orchids under fluorescent lights since 1997. He grows primarily Paphiopedilums, Phragmipediums, Moth orchids (Phalaenopsis/ Doritis/ Doritaenopsis etc), and mini and compact Corsage orchids (Cattleya alliance). In his spare time, aside from maintaining orchids under lights in a unique dedicated 8'x10' second story room garage growing room, Ernie likes to spend time with his wife and son, toy poodle, and two cats; brew beer; keep tropical fish; play volleyball and roller hockey; and SCUBA dive as a PADI-certified Divemaster. More information about Ernie and his plants can be found at the Enlightened orchids website: <http://www.enlightenedorchids.com>. (please have pre-orders in by 5:00 pm on Thursday, August 09)

Recap of 2007 July's Meeting, Walter Orchard and growing Disas

Walter Orchard came to speak with us at our July meeting about Disas, a genus of South African terrestrial orchids. Disas are rarely seen in orchid collections, which is a great pity as they are among the most strikingly beautiful of all terrestrial orchids. The Disa genus consists of over one hundred species, but only six are of any cultural interest: Disa uniflora, Disa cardinalis, Disa racemosa, Disa tripetaloides, Disa venosa and Disa caulescens. Of these Disa uniflora also known as the "Pride of Table Mountain" is perhaps the most important and conspicuous Disa species being a parent of many of the more famous Disa hybrids. There are over eighty registered hybrids. Disa Veitchii the first registered hybrid is a robust primary between D. uniflora and D. racemosa. All of the main Disa species of interest grow in a winter rainfall area close to Cape Town near running mountain streams. Disas need exceptionally pure water and will suffer from impurities such as chlorine and fluoride. Basically, these plants like wet and cool conditions. Oregon's cool rain-soaked forests appear to be near perfect for growing these wonderful plants. Disa are cool growing orchids and tolerate temperatures close to freezing, although prolonged exposure to freezes will likely kill them. However, prolonged temperatures above 80°F will stress them out and lead to their demise. Disas need a medium that provides good drainage but remains moisture. The most common growth medium is long fiber sphagnum moss often mixed with additions of washed sand or diatomaceous earth. Disas are interesting and beautiful plants. However, as these August day starts with temperatures in the high seventies, I wonder how feasible maintaining such cool/wet conditions in North Carolina. But then again I'm sure that maybe a few of the more adventurous and clever members of our group will find a way to grow these spectacular terrestrial orchids here.

News from the Greensboro AOS Judging Center

The Greensboro Judging center is thrilled to have Frank Smith of Krull Smith Orchids visiting the Greensboro Judging Center in August. He will be giving a training session on Paphiopedilums.

His talk is titled 'How to Judge Paphiopedilums' Although this talk will be geared for the judges many of you will be able to learn about Paphs and enjoy his talk. He will share many examples of what makes a lady slipper an outstanding addition to your collection. This will be a "do-not-miss event."

Date: August 18th, 2007

Time: His presentation will begin promptly at 11:00 am

Please arrive and be seated by 11:00 am.

Please check our website for driving directions and more details. www.carolinasjudgingcenter.org

If your society has not made a donation to the Greensboro judging center please consider doing so. Judges are volunteers and work hard to keep the center available for any exhibitor to show plants and obtain American Orchid Society Awards. A few of the judges are currently donating their own speaker fees to allow us to bring these trainers to our area and keep our center very active and knowledgeable. Your donations are greatly appreciated.
